Hi there, I'm Nuno!

Although I have experience as a construction project manager I am looking forward to give my work life a new course and in order to do so I have been studying to become a Front-end Web Developer.

However, there's only one little piece missing here: it's the opportunity, and you are the one who can make it happen.

So, if you looking for someone with some work experience, a team player, detail oriented, persistent and with critical sense who is always looking to learn new things, give me the opportunity I've been looking for.
